

GAS STATIONS IN EAST GAIN IMPORTANCE

Motorists Look to Operators
As U. S. Puts Ration Plan in Effect.

10 MILLION AFFECTED

OPACS Orders 10 Per Cent
Slash in Deliveries to Filling Station.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—The government ordered gasoline rationing for the east today, and straightaway the man at the fuel pump assumed new importance in the eyes of 10,000,000 motorists.

Filling station operators will be in direct control of the consumers' end of the conservation program, deciding how to divide their reduced supply among customers.

The rationing order, issued by the office of price administration and civilian supply (OPACS), calls for a 10 per cent slash in deliveries of gasoline to service stations. However, the reduction in non-essential use of gasoline, such as in pleasure cars, is expected to amount to 20 per cent, since under the order commercial, emergency, farm and government vehicles will not be subject to the rationing at all.

The order, without precedent in peacetime, involves no issue of individual ration cards.
Essential cars must be fueled, but after that it is up to the filling station operator to determine how to spread the remaining supply among his customers.

In doing out the gasoline, however, the operators are instructed not to discriminate between different customers of motor fuel or different classes of traffic and to "spread the necessary curtailment proportionately among different consumers." Further, the filling station men were told to distribute the gasoline proportionately throughout each day and each month.

The latter provision appeared to point to many a headache. A federal official said the station operators would have to figure out as best they could how to administer this requirement.

The rationing is effective in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut,
Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia,
North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida east of the Apalachicola river, and in the District of Columbia.

British Fliers Prepare to Take Leg to RAF Ace

LONDON—(AP)—Buddies of Wing Commander Douglas R. Bader, the legless ace now held prisoner by the Germans, were bidding today for the job of dropping him a metal leg to replace the one he broke in parachuting from his flaming plane over France a few days ago.

Germany has notified the Royal Air Force of Bader's plight through the International Red Cross and has offered immunity to any British pilot who will bring him another leg. Bader kept several at his flying station in South England.

It was believed that one of Bader's friends would be authorized to drop a leg in a parachute during a flight over German-held territory.

Bader was credited with shooting down 15 German planes before his capture.

WIFE BELIEVES IN 'LUCKY LIFE'

Convinced Flier Husband Has Charmed Career After He's Reported Safe.

(By United Press)
MONTREAL—Mrs. J. C. Mackey, wife of Atlantic ferry bomber pilot Captain Mackey of Kansas City erroneously reported killed yesterday, was more convinced than ever today that "Joe had a charmed life."

"My Joe is safe. He still bears a charmed life," she exclaimed when advised that her husband, whom she had mourned as dead for 15 hours, was alive.

"I'm very, very relieved, I've never been so happy," Captain Mackey, who piloted the plane in which Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, was killed in a crash in Newfoundland last winter, was listed among the 22 victims of the crash in England through a coding error. His name had been confused with that of V. W. MacKay, a Canadian radio operator killed in the crash.

Mrs. Mackey was informed of her husband's death at 1:30 a. m. yesterday, and for 15 hours a steady flow of flowers and messages of condolences arrived at her home.

Mrs. Mackey was almost overcome with joy when she learned of the error but was sorry for Mackey's wife, a bride of only a few weeks.

Captain Mackey is "on duty" somewhere in Canada or England, but his exact whereabouts was not known.

Parachute Troops Are Report-

(By International News Service) MOSCOW—Russia's southern army is maintaining "particularly stubborn" resistance in the Ukraine, while heavy fighting continues all the way to the Arctic, the noon Soviet communique said today.

"Fighting continued along the whole front during the night," the bulletin said.

"Our troops fought with partic-sector."

"The Soviet air force dealt heavy blows to the enemy."

"Russia's air force, a special announcement said, smashed large-scale attempts by the Germans to land parachute troops in the rear of the Soviet lines in the Ukraine."

Meanwhile Germany's newest offensive, opened three days ago along the entire length of the front from Finland to the Ukraine, continued with unabated fury.
Premier Josef Stalin's defense commissariat gave out little information concerning the fighting, and did not even claim that the Russian lines were holding.

The former Zanesville superin-

state administration during that period.

Dietrich said he had no plans

NAZIS BATTLING GROWING UNREST

Seed of Revolt Threatens to Break Into Being In Occupied Nations.

By MERRILL MUELLER
(INS Staff Correspondent)
LONDON—Unrest — which eventually may develop into revolt — is growing in Nazi-occupied territories, according to information in the hands of the British foreign office and continental governments-in-exile today.

The role of the United States in the war was credited by the foreign office and free governments of France, Norway, the Low Countries and other nations with giving strong impetus to a new surge of opposition to the Nazis in occupied zones.

Belief that the United States will prove supreme in the present struggle, a foreign office source said, is adding to discontent in the conquered nations.

But it was admitted that the spirit of revolt still is feeble in the occupied states, where the people are without unity, without weapons, and almost without hope.

Nevertheless it was said that the democratic-minded peoples daily are showing more openly their opposition to Nazi rule, and this feeling of protest was reported to be spreading even into the countries, such as Italy, which are directly allied with the Reich.

During the last week I was permitted to study information delivered by devious channels to the various leaders of the free governments in London and to informed persons close to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Without exception these accounts show that the Nazis have not been able to conceal the beginning of a new attitude growing out of increased American interest in European affairs.

But the day of serious revolt

Jap Liner Stages Race With Death Toward Yokohama

YOKOHAMA—(AP)—With seven persons already dead and 113 others stricken with ptomaine poisoning, the Japanese liner Ta-tuta Maru today was staging a dramatic race for Yokohama in an effort to keep the death toll at a minimum.

The Tatuta Maru was en route back from San Francisco, where she was the center of an international wrangle over her rich silk cargo.

Sixteen doctors and nurses were to be rushed with medical assistance by launch to the Tatuta Maru as she neared port.

The other poison victims were said to be in critical condition.
Cause of the poisoning was not revealed in appeals for aid flashed from the vessel. But the Tatuta Maru had been about a month out of Japan—having cruised off San Francisco for a week before she was put in under Washington assurances that she would not be tainted—and she took on few supplies in California, so some of her food may have spoiled.

Hospital In Serious Condition.

Nine persons were injured, one of them seriously, yesterday in the Mansfield area and 11 others were killed over the state as automobile mishaps got off to a fast start on their week-end traffic toll.

Injured admitted to Mansfield General hospital were:
Nancy Weiser, 13, of Beloit, Wis., who was listed this morning by hospital attaches as being in "fair" condition after suffering a possible fractured vertebrae yesterday.

Mrs. Geraldine Weiser, her mother, suffered six broken ribs, a cut wrist and bruises. Her condition was also listed as "fair."

Mrs. Milo Rumbaugh of Lima, suffered a slashed neck and leg in the same accident.

Milo Rumbaugh suffered a cut lip.

Mrs. D. M. McCullough of Pittsburgh was reported in "fair" condition this morning after she suffered lacerations on her face yesterday.

Mrs. E. Cross of Barberton suffered cuts and bruises and was also listed as "fair" this morning.

William Cross suffered a cut over his eye and after treatment at General hospital was sent home.

Katherine Alt, 23, of New Wash-

ROOSEVELT DUE TO LAND TODAY

Cruises Toward Rockland,

Eventful Voyage.

(By Associated Press)
ROCKLAND, Me.—President Roosevelt cruised toward this down-east fishing port today after an historic rendezvous at sea with Winston Churchill, and nations waited tensely for any further disclosures of how they hoped to assure "a better future for the world."

The chief executive was scheduled to put in here some time this afternoon, ending a 13-day mystery voyage which began as "a vacation" jaunt but produced an unprecedented meeting between the president and prime minister and a statement of their present objectives and post-war aims.

The White House yacht, Potomac, with Mr. Roosevelt aboard, was anchored last night off Deer Island, Me. For the first time since he sailed away from the submarine base at New London, Conn., on Aug. 3, the president had authorized the disclosure of his whereabouts.

Presidential aides assumed that Mr. Roosevelt would hold a press conference here before leaving for Washington by spe-hoped to obtain the first detailed account of the epochal conferences with Churchill and answers to questions puzzling

GEN. JOHNSON: Plan Early Hearings In Gambling Probe

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON
CHICAGO — There is a growing feeling through much of the middle-west that it is in for an economic drubbing. It is going to have to pay its share of terrific expenditure. It is getting no where near its share in their distribution.
Its principal industry, which is agriculture, is looking forward to no particular hey-day, because, for the present at least, there is not enough shipping to export great quantities of its surplus in bulk and its domestic market is not expected to increase greatly, because of deliberate government policies to restrict consumer purchasing power.
Its small industries are already beginning to feel the pinch of the priorities system. Most of them can't get priorities because few of them have defense orders. So they have first to slow down and then close up and lay off workers.
Thus, this area is in large part in danger of great distress and it is beginning to realize that.
Much of it can't be helped. Indeed, the government has tried hard to locate defense industries in part of this section and some mammoth munitions plants are in course of erection in places that never dreamed of having such giant plants.
The influence of OPM's Madame Elliott and probably Mrs. Roosevelt has been strong in over-riding both the industrial OPM-ers and the technical armament services in locating plants for sociological reasons rather than convenience and efficiency.

Their view may prove the wiser in the end, but it did little more for the bulk of the middle-west than to extend the Great Lakes and Ohio industrial area.
It isn't pleasant to contemplate the several areas of irritation and resentment that are possibly being created—or the extent of them.
The various plans now advocated by some in government to reduce consumer purchasing power, if they prove as drastic as they threaten to be, will irritate millions in all classes.
Much of this irritation is probably unavoidable if we are to become the arsenal and the larder of the world. Some of it, like the replacement of soldiers, whose term of service has been extended, is a present necessity which creates irritation by reason of a past mistake—the lack of frankness in passing much vital legislation.
Some of the regional irritation could be soothed by a far greater and wider farming out of defense contracts and an even wider distribution of plants.
The priorities system could be far more intelligently applied to ration supplies in fair division between civilian and military needs, favoring the former but not disregarding the latter.
The whole situation would be greatly relieved for farmers and everybody else if a system of all-over price control were adopted in place of a system to confiscate purchasing power. The people should be able to buy as much rather than little as can be contrived.

REVISED AID ESTIMATES GO TO ROOSEVELT

Congress Expected to Be Asked to Appropriates 10 Billion to Britain, Russia, China.

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON — The administration is revising its lend-lease program of aid for nations resisting the Axis to include comprehensive aid to Russia, it was believed today.
Officials made what they said were "pure guesses" that congress would be asked to appropriate $10,000,000,000 or more to aid Britain, Russia, and China. The sum originally contemplated was $6,000,000,000. Estimates for the revised program will be submitted to President Roosevelt when he returns to Washington tomorrow.
Greatly accelerated American and British aid to Russia was foreshadowed in a letter sent Premier Josef Stalin by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill suggesting that they send high officials to Moscow for conferences with him and other high Russian officials.

There was no official here willing to interpret an omnicus sentence in the letter. That sentence was: "The war goes on over many fronts and before it is over there may be further fighting fronts that will be developed." One "further fighting front," it was suggested, was British Malaya in southwestern Asia, menaced by the Japanese move into Indo-China, and French West Africa, where it has been persistently reported, the Germans seek aid and naval bases from which to menace South Atlantic shipping and the South American coast.
Great Britain and the United States, the letter made plain, are collaborating to supplement the aid they already have sent to the Soviet Union, with a long range program designed to bring a "complete victory" over Germany.

The unprecedented letter to the head of a great power signed by the president of the United States and the prime minister of Great Britain was made public here and in London last night. It represented another of the decisions made at the conferences between the president and Churchill at sea. It was expected that other decisions would be made known later.
It said the "efforts and sacrifices" of the democracies to furnish immediate aid to Russia would be wasted unless there is a long-term plan to bolster the Red army for "the long and hard path" that is ahead. Hence, the suggestion that high officials go to Moscow. Russian acceptance of the proposal seemed a foregone conclusion.

Just a few minutes after recovering his automobile, reported stolen Thursday night, William Paramore, 558 Henneman boulevard, figured in a collision at the corner of Washington avenue and Fourth street yesterday.
Mansfield police found Paramore's car abandoned on West Fifth street shortly after midnight yesterday. It had been stolen the previous night from its parking space on Orange near Wayne street.
Paramore went down to headquarters yesterday to get the auto and was driving home when his car collided with another driven by John W. Franklin, Mansfield, R. D. 1. Neither driver was injured.

They don't know, of course, that Joey isn't a millionaire at all. He may be some day, if his mother gives it to him, but he's not now.
And Lily, the sister? Well, she knows. She knows because Joey's mother, who doesn't want him to marry an actress, took her aside at a party one night and told her: "If you are after my son for his money you're on the wrong track—because his actual income is only $5,000 a year, and any other money he gets has to come from me."

Lily is supposed to be a sharp girl with a dollar—but she's still going to marry Joey, because, believe it or not, she really loves him for himself.

ASKS LIMIT ON CREDIT BUYING

Federal Reserve Board Seeks 18-Month Restriction on Installment Contracts.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON — Close regulation of installment credit to provide for higher down payments and an 18-month limit on installment contracts was considered today by the federal board in a move to block inflation.
The powerful board, armed with an executive order based on credit restriction powers carried over from World War days, yesterday made proposals intended for purposes of discussion. But the proposals carried the suggestion of high authority.

"It is proposed," said Marriner S. Eccles, board chairman, "in the initial regulations covering only a limited number of articles and applying only moderate terms, to lay a basis for such subsequent coverage and adjustment of terms as experience in this field and economic development may indicate to be necessary."

The tentative suggestions called for a minimum down payment of one-third on automobiles, aircraft, boats, motorcycles, for at least 20 per cent on radios, refrigerators, and other household appliances, and for 15 per cent on plumbing and air-conditioning units.
The proposed 18-month limit on installment terms would apply to cash loans under $1,000, and to the purchase of new and used cars, radios, planes, power boats and household appliances.
Such restrictions, the board hoped, would keep prices down by cutting installment buying and would curb manufacture of consumer goods which absorb materials needed for defense.

LEGION MEETS IN YOUNGSTOWN

Annual State Convention Opens In Mahoning County Today.

YOUNGSTOWN — (UP) — Ohio Legionnaires assumed "occupation" of this Mahoning Valley steel capital, today at start of the annual state American Legion convention.
Today's activity centered around the Forty and Eight, fun affiliate of the Legion. The main business sessions, parades and other activity of the Legion proper begins Monday. An attendance of more than 10,000 is forecast.
National Commander Milo Warner of Toledo will be guest of honor at a banquet tonight.

50 SWIMMERS PARTICIPATE IN ANNUAL RED CROSS WATER SHOW

More than 200 spectators lined the rim of Liberty park pool last night to watch approximately 50 swimmers demonstrate the work of swimming and life-saving classes conducted under the supervision of Richland county chapter of the Red Cross this past summer.
Directed by Bernard C. Hardy, first aid and water safety director of the chapter, the annual water pageant was representative of the program in which close to 350 Richland county persons participated during the season.

Presented under lights the pageant introduced formation swimming, diving, water waltzing, the use of flippers in swimming, various methods of life-saving including the use of the Hawaiian surf board, and gun-walking and kayaking with a canoe.

The two youngest swimmers in the pageant were daughters of Coach Paul Snyder, Gretchen, age 5, and Chloe, 6, presented a diving exhibition from the one-meter board, and also acted as charioters in a water race.

Dick Calhoun and Phil Hillgoss, life saver at Casino pool, highlighted the pageant with diving demonstrations from the one and three-meter boards.

Helen Webber led a group of six girls in formations that included tandem swimming, stars and pin wheels. Others in the group were Marilyn Ackerman, Virginia Webber, Etabelle Hunter, Joan Beard, Lenore Betts and Helen Subich.

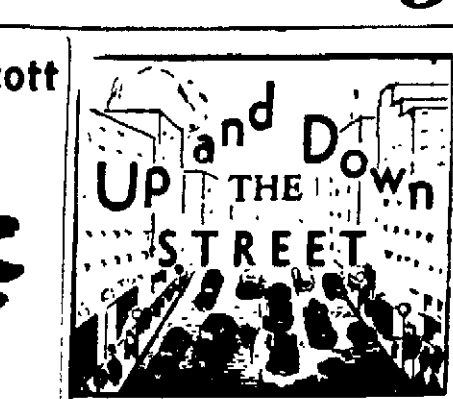

Announced by Bernard C. Hardy, the pageant also included a demonstration of the Hawaiian surf board by Paul Snyder and Dick Hunter; an exhibition on how to disrobe under water by Dave Cervenski; comedy diving by Steve Mauser, a life-saving burlesque by James Hunter, Dave Cervenski and Floyd Sowash, and a water waltz by Dick Calhoun, Joan Beard, James Hunter and Helen Webber.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. BREESE, 60

Morrow County Resident Succumbs at Columbus Hospital.

NT GILEAD — Mrs. Mattie Ellen Brees, 60, a lifelong resident of Morrow county, died last night at St. Anthony's hospital, Columbus.
She is survived by her husband, A. V. Brees; a son, Kenneth Graham, and a step-son, Kenneth Brees, both of Mt. Gilead; three sisters, Mrs. Mamie Kunkle, of Mt. Vernon and Miss Addie Wingett, and Mrs. Lydia McCommon of this city; and two brothers, Burr Wingett of Mt. Gilead, and Romie Wingett of Edison.
Funeral services will be held at the Craven funeral home Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be in Rivercliff cemetery.

Laff-a-Day

Members of the Childrens theater board turned janitor last night after the performance of "The Mikado" in Central Methodist church and restored the basement to order for Sunday school even down to waxing a part of the floor. The room was loaned for the occasion at the last minute when rain threatened to spoil the performance originally scheduled for South park.

Persons receiving letters from Mayor William J. Locke from now on will be getting one of the 500 sheets of stationery which he had specially printed with the city's new seal in three colors. The new letterheads were purchased for $25 per room or 500 sheets. The standard stationery used before adoption of the seal by the mayor cost the city $10.50 for each 500 sheets. The new letterhead displays the seal boasting Mansfield as "the trunk line city."

Edwin Lybarger, Sharon township constable, today celebrated his 86th birthday anniversary by riding on his bicycle doing his regular business duties. Lybarger, who was born in Rome, northeast of here, has been constable in the township for more than 20 years.

Most people want polished paper when they write letters, but not Jimmy Lenley, the blind proprietor of the courthouse stand. He found the ideal "writing" squares today in the soft paper squares that separate layers of candy bars he receives for his stock. Jimmy uses the Braille system when he writes letters and keeps books and he says the soft paper is easier to punch holes in to form the dots for words than any other he has used.

NEW MEETING

Farmers to Carry Wheat Crop Fight to Shelby Tuesday.

The Richland County Tax Free Wheat association, an organization of farmers seeking repeal of the AAA wheat marketing limitations and the 49-cent tax, will take its fight to Shelby Tuesday night with a meeting at 8 p. m. in the town hall.
It is expected that state leaders in the movement against the government program will speak at the session. The group will discuss plans for action against the program, either by petitioning congress or through a court test.

Russell T. Kiko, Canton, new chairman of the Ohio Marketing Quota Protest association, and Edward E. Kennedy, representing the American Farm Guild, spoke Thursday night at a meeting of the county association in the Shiloh Legion hall. About 100 farmers attended.

EXPECT 5,000 AT GBU JUBILEE

Mansfield Organization To Hold Event at Park Tomorrow.

Approximately 5,000 persons are expected at the German Beneficial Union silver jubilee at the GBU park Sunday.
Mansfield organizations and the public have been invited to the celebration.
Mayor William J. Locke will be the speaker and national officers of the GBU from Pittsburgh will attend.
Free bus service to the grounds will be available from 1 to 11 p. m. Anton Maurer, GBU secretary, said. Buses will leave on the hour from Fourth and Main streets.

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead, you've probably guessed right!)

LYDIA is one of Hollywood's loveliest stars, and Timothy, the big director, is the fellow who's lucky enough to be her husband. They've been married for several years, and got along beautifully during most of them. There was only one flaw to the marriage: Lydia was in love with someone else.

The object of her devotion was Peter, a curly-haired young actor on her own lot. He had been her leading man in one picture—and from that time on, she adored him. But she steeled herself against the whisperings of her heart, because she was married—and so, for that matter, was Peter.

Then, one fine day a beautiful ingenue strolled onto Timothy's lot and into his vision—and Timothy didn't steel himself. He went after the ingenue, whose name was Jenny, in hot pursuit—and Jenny didn't run fast, or far.

Pretty soon her romance was the talk of Hollywood. Pretty soon even Lydia heard the gossip. And when Jenny and Timothy went off to Arrowhead for a week-end, she knew it was true.

She had no compunction, then, in asking Timothy for a divorce. He didn't particularly want one (he couldn't marry Jenny anyway, because, you see, she was married too), but there was nothing to do but agree.

And so movie fans all over the country were shocked to read one morning that Lydia and Timothy were divorcing.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1941.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and sound your horn before passing another car on the highway.

Quiz programs are said to be about "washed up"—but surely not because there is a shortage of questions.

At that, says a sufferer, there are worse things in the world than hay fever—but he probably has a mild attack.

Ohioans Excessively Taxed

WHILE hard-pressed taxpayers are struggling to meet present obligations, and uncomfortably contemplating further federal tax increases, the pile-up of an unnecessarily large surplus in the Ohio state treasury becomes a matter of lively interest.

It now appears, as was contended early this year by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and a number of other groups, that Governor Bricker greatly underestimated revenues from various taxes, and that the tremendous surplus being accumulated is far in excess of all anticipated needs.

A charge made at that time, and now being repeated, was that Governor Bricker intentionally underestimated probable tax revenues for this year, so as to be in position, in furtherance of his own political ambitions, to call a special session of the legislature early in 1942, to reduce taxes.

In addition to being the most costly administration in the state's history, it is now contended by what appear to be reliable authorities that income from the state retail sales tax could be cut as much as 33 1/3 per cent and an adequate surplus still left in the treasury.

Governor Bricker has been petitioned by a group of members of the upper and lower houses to call a special session of the legislature at once, instead of waiting until next year, in order to reduce taxes and distribute a part of the present cumbersome surplus among local subdivisions.

Ohio's so-called "3% sales tax," which really attains around a 6 to 7% average, is probably the most extortionate method of retail sales tax collection practiced in any state, as it frequently amounts to 10% or even higher—occasionally going as high as 100% . . . at the 41-cent and 71-cent purchase price, for instance.

It seems practicable, if Governor Bricker should consent, that the sales tax could immediately be reduced to an ACTUAL 2%, as is in vogue in a number of other states—but the governor has thus far stubbornly refused to admit that state taxes can be cut NOW.

Buying More From Latin America

THE United States government, through the Metals Reserve company and the Defense Supply corporation, subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has been buying raw materials from Latin America. At the same time, private enterprise has discovered many products down that way for which a new market has opened here.

For example, imports of the excellent cheeses produced in Argentina increased tenfold last year. Importers are getting from the same country wines and other beverages as fine as those formerly obtained from France and Italy. The novelties which used to flow in great quantity from Czechoslovakia are replaced to some extent by the handwork of Mexico and Central and South America. The craftsmanship of silversmiths, potters, leather workers, wood carvers and others is now recognized by North Americans as skillful and beautiful. Products of their hands are in great demand not only by tourists who visit their village markets, but by department store patrons at home.

The absence of standardization and mass production is hard for us to understand. They are shocked by our demand for duplicated products by the thousand gross. Workers down there are individualists and rarely make many articles alike. Friction may arise from such differences, but on the whole there is hope in the present situation for solution of the economic problems of this hemisphere.

Time for Motorists To Help

MANSFIELD now has its long-awaited "traffic squad"—and its personnel gives the impression of capability and earnestness.

Just how far these officers will get, in improving traffic conditions on Mansfield streets, will depend largely on the extent of co-operation they are given by motorists.

If, as has been the case in the past, enforcement of traffic regulations is resented and special privileges demanded by certain offenders, nothing much can be expected.

If, however, all well-intentioned motorists will make an effort to voluntarily comply with traffic regulations, observe stop signs, keep within legal speed limits, use care in making turns at intersections, and the like, improvement will be quickly noted and it will also be easier to detect habitual and intentional offenders.

As a matter designed to increase public safety and convenience—as well as from the standpoint of civic pride—it will be worthwhile to co-operate with and encourage the new traffic squad in every possible way.

The Captain's Final V

THE CAPTAIN of the Belgian ship Mercier, torpedoed, went down with his boat in the old and true tradition of the sea. But he added a modern note, says one of the few survivors, picked up by a small Finnish freighter and dropped at Norfolk, Va., after a hard experience.

Just as the ship went down, the captain tooted dot-dot-dot-dash! V for Victory! on the whistle. Then he, six of his crew, and his ship were gone.

As Hitler and the Japs make their desperate and deluded effort at world conquest, forcing all the nations of the earth to arm against them, the derisive V goes with them, whistling, tapping, marking its way around the world.

It was a Topeka, Kan., girl who thought to remark: "Somebody's going to have to hold me and put them on if I wear cotton stockings"—and the line-up of volunteers will form at the stock.

Men do strange things while drunk—as, for instance, the middle-aged Iowan who, after sobering up, learned that he had bought a farm and a second-hand car, and had also married a widow.

Times have changed and people nowadays think they are economical if they spend only a nickel for a drink when they are thirsty—never stopping to think that water is free.

Tom Mooney now says: "I've never regretted a single day I spent in prison"—which makes it awkward for those who tried to get him out sooner.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Cold feet. That's what I have to think of when I think of the late Eddie Leonard, the old minstrel, who died in New York the other day. . . . There was a short story punch to the tagline. . . . He went back to the hotel where he lived in his palmy days, bought a $3 room, and died.

But what I mean by cold feet is a train ride I had with Leonard one night. . . . It was during the earliest days of the depression. . . . We had an entire Pullman to ourselves. . . . I got on and there he was. . . . After awhile we went back into the smoker to relax. . . . Suddenly he said, "You know my feet are cold. . . . Do you mind if I bathe them in some warm water?" "I'll join you," I told him, and so we pulled off our shoes and stood there, thrusting first one foot and then the other in basins of warm water. . . . Years later, I saw Eddie again, but from across the footlights. . . . He was on a New York stage, and not very happy. . . . I meant to go back and talk to him, and recall that night we soaked our feet on a train that was plunging through the midwest. . . . But I put it off, and now it's too late.

RURAL note: It's so peaceful in the country. . . . That's what the song says. . . . And it's what George Sutton writes, too, from his place in Connecticut. . . . "You would have been greatly amused," he says, "One duck brought off 16 babies from 16 eggs. . . . The little mallard duck brought off seven. . . . Three other baby ducks died for no reason that I can determine and three baby guinea hens died from being trampled on by white leghorn chickens. That leaves us with 276 months to feed, including two golden pheasants. We are also feeding the mouths of several thousand Japanese beetles but the food I am giving them doesn't seem to agree with them. . . . I also stole 28 pounds of gorgeous honey from my bees. . . ."

Two new members of the American Guide Series acquired this week—"North Carolina," from the University of North Carolina Press, at Chapel Hill; and "Georgia," from the University of Georgia Press, at Athens. . . . I'll bet there are things in each of these books that Georgia and North Carolina historians themselves didn't know. . . . When you get into these states, you get into old country. . . . They were among the original colonies. . . . Some of the feuding old Scot clans moved over from Scotland and continued their feuding right there. . . . Georgia and North Carolina. They were great Revolutionary war names, great Civil war names, great American names. . . . Pardon me for repeating, but I feel sorry for people who have a chance to get their hands on these books—and don't. . . . S. Next week, "Massachusetts" and "Alabama."

The steak house, cafe or movie house around the Broadway sector that isn't air-cooled these days is an exception. . . . The number has increased 300 per cent in three years.

NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN

Move to Build Defense Highways

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Sen. Carl Hayden, Arizona, shepherding the now vetoed $320,000,000 defense highway bill through the senate, gave an enlightening exposition on distribution of federal highway funds.

Going back to 1933 and the days of the $330,000,000 relief bill, Senator Hayden explained that he had gone to the president and outlined his belief that the quickest way to put people to work would be to earmark a portion of the relief funds for highway construction.

The president said he had delegated relief to four members of the cabinet, Secretary of War Dorn, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of Interior Ickes and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Dorn and Wallace immediately approved the plan. Secretaries Ickes and Perkins balked.

They were, Senator Hayden declared, without political experience. They felt that the funds should be disbursed in unemployment centers. Talking to Secretary Ickes, the senator said: "Mr. Secretary, you are new and without political experience. If it becomes known in Arizona that a man named Ickes has money in Washington to improve the road between Tucson and Phoenix, and the people ask me to get some money for that road, I am coming to see you."

Secretary Ickes explained that there were at least some senators who were willing to take that chance.

Yes, Senator Hayden explained, some senators were willing to take a chance on getting there before the other fellow, but finally "you will have 96 senators and 435 representatives on your neck, whereas if the matter is handled in the normal way, and the money is appropriated among the states, so that the work can be decentralized, you will not be bothered with it at all."

No 'Political Experience'

THE senator then reported to the president that "two members of the cabinet who understood the situation" approved earmarking the funds and apportioning them to the states; but "that two members who were without political experience objected and wanted to create a great bureaucracy in Washington, which would compel the sponsor of every road project to come to Washington and secure its approval."

The president did not want that, Senator Hayden said, adding that "that was before the bureaucrats in Washington had had time to influence his thinking."

So, with the aid of attorneys from the comptroller general's office, Senator Hayden drew the legislation which gave the states $400,000,000 for highways—on a population and mileage apportionment basis that has been our policy ever since. There is no more mystery to it than that.

But that doesn't explain all the mystery behind the present defense highway act. The original survey, completed last February, gathered dust for months while various departments and agencies argued about who would have charge of it. Finally, only $125,000,000 was asked with the suggestion that it be disbursed by the president on a basis of defense needs.

When the bill finally passed, congress had upped the sum to $320,000,000 and gone back to the old apportionment policy. Dubbed as pure "pork-barrel" legislation by its opponents, the measure was vetoed by the president and the veto upheld in the house by the narrowest margin.

Split Party Lines.

ONE of the most interesting things about the veto was how it split party lines. It brought Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg to the president's defense and carried forth the remark from Sen. Kenneth McKellar, "I have been here eight years under the administration of Mr. Roosevelt, and so far as I recall, this is the first and only time the senator has ever argued that President Roosevelt should be trusted."

Senator Vandenberg answered: "Well, this is the first and only time I can remember that the president has ever said anything about economy."

A new defense highway bill to take care of the bridges in the country that won't carry a medium tank and to build access roads to military and defense industrial centers already is in the making. Best guess is that the new bill will total about $100,000,000 less than the one that smashed up on the presidential veto.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Meeting at Sea Holds Spotlight, Axis Foes Reveal Post-War Aims

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT put to sea Aug. 3 on the yacht Potomac for a "vacation" cruise.

For a few days dispatches from the yacht related that "the party enjoyed good fishing," but even these fragmentary reports ceased for five days.

The nation was agog with speculation. Then Thursday the silence was broken with a bulletin from the White House that FDR and Prime Minister Churchill had met at sea and determined to achieve "final destruction" of the Nazi tyranny and agreed "on certain common principles . . . on which they base their hopes for a better world."

An eight-point statement of post-war aims included assurance that Britain and the U. S. "seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other," and that they "respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and . . . will endeavor, with due respect for their obligations, to further the enjoyment by all states, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access on equal terms to the trade and to the raw materials of the world."

Their closing point set forth that "since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armaments continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten aggression outside of their frontiers, they believe . . . that the disarmament of such nations is essential."

Japan was not mentioned but a Japanese diplomat in London declared that this simply "implies" that Japan was one of the main points of discussion.

High military and naval officials of both countries sat in on the conference. Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, came to the U. S. to expedite the flow of arms.

Service Extension.

By a vote of 203 to 202 the house passed the bill to extend draft training service 18 months. Provisions of the bill were the same as those in the one passed by the senate. Both bills authorized the president to extend the training period but allowed men to be released in "hardship cases" and boosted the pay of both trainees and regular army men $10 a month after their first year of service.

Thus congress replied to the distress signal sent up by the army, which contended Atlantic and Pacific outposts would be stripped of manpower and trainees only half-trained if they were released.

Japan's "Encirclement."

As Japanese newspapers complained that Japan was being "encircled" by Britain, China, the United States and the Dutch East Indies, an AP newsman reported that Japan was placing 180,000 troops in Indo-China, most of them along the border with Thailand.

Looking northwest, Japan professed grave concern over U. S. shipment of war supplies to the Russian Pacific port of Vladivostok.

News analyst DeWitt Mackenzie believed two factors had been restraining the Japanese from making new aggressions.

"Nippon," he said, "would be in danger of strangulation by blockade, and her tiny island empire with its lightly built and highly inflammable structures would be a nightmare target for bombs, especially of the incendiary type."

Crime

A Warden's Order.

Several years ago Jess Dunn, lanky warden of the Oklahoma penitentiary, told Bill Alexander, now a deputy sheriff: "If there ever should be a break and the convicts get hostages—even if they get me and I tell you not to shoot—go ahead and shoot."

As Dunn was entering the prison hospital with a friend last Sunday four convicts accosted them. Two of the prisoners held razors to their throats, the other two held knives at their backs. Under duress, Dunn ordered guards to throw down their guns and open the gate. The guards obeyed him.

But as prisoners and hostages were fleeing by car, Alexander and other officers overtook them and blocked the road with their car. Dunn ordered Alexander to let his party pass. Alexander replied: "Warden, you can pass, but the prisoners had better fall out of that car."

With that ultimatum the convicts began firing and Alexander shot back. When the smoke cleared, Dunn (reportedly shot by the prisoners) and two of the convicts were dead, the other two convicts and a pursuer were wounded.

In Short

Resumed: The border feuding between Peru and Ecuador despite their recent truce.

Engaged: Senator Bob Reynolds, 57, who has already been married four times, and Evelyn McLean, 20-year-old Washington heiress.

Fixed: A price ceiling on sugar which should enable housewives to continue to buy five pounds for 29 cents, by Prime Administrator Henderson.

Paroled: Richard Whitney, five-times president of the New York Stock Exchange, from Sing Sing, after serving 3 1/2 years of his five-year sentence for stealing $224,000 from client accounts. He will manage a dairy farm on Cape Cod at a 25-a-week salary.

Two-Piece Suits Favored for Fall

By ORRY-KELLY
Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing for INS.
HOLLYWOOD—One subject so important that it cannot be exhausted this summer is "the two-piece suit." This may sound like dull fare indeed until you count the many and exciting new fabrics going into these little two-pieces, the colossal daring in mixing and matching of flashy colors, and the social angles involved.

Social angles? Well, we'll elaborate on that point because it seems that the two-piece suit, man-tailored or dressmaker, is going everywhere "that everyone goes" in Hollywood.

On a cool night the star of "One Foot in Heaven," charming Martha Scott, favors the two-piece woolen dressmaker suit above everything in her wardrobe. Light weight woollens for summer evenings have always been included in Miss Scott's scheme of things.

April shook her head hastily: "If you do you'll just quarrel. That would be a big mistake. You might just as well talk to a stone, as Cherry right now. Her mind is made up. You go back home and leave her to me. I promise I'll do everything in my power to send her back home to you."

Pat looked out the window dejectedly: "Well, I guess you know best. But I just can't stand the idea of not seeing her for a little while. If you're sure she'll just get sassy though, I'll do as you say."

April was greatly relieved. "I'm sure I'm giving you the right advice," she smiled encouragingly. "You leave everything to me and I'm sure Cherry will come back home and marry you some of these days."

When Pat waved good bye from his car and drove away April's heart was heavy as lead in her breast. He was so young and fine and dependable. If Cherry searched the world over she could never find a finer husband than Pat Hastings.

Mansfielder Takes Lakewood Girl as Bride

Of interest to residents of Mansfield is the marriage of Miss Suzette Waltz of Lakewood, O., and Ariel Humphrey of this city who were married Aug. 17, 1940, at Covington, O. Mrs. Humphrey is the daughter of Mrs. Lyda Waltz of Lakewood. Mr. Humphrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Humphrey of Coolidge Heights.

For her wedding the bride was attired in a blue and white tailored suit with white accessories. She wore a corsage of gardenias. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Coleman of Cleveland. Mrs. Coleman wore a blue lack frock with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Humphrey is a graduate of Lakewood high school. Mr. Humphrey attended Mansfield schools and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. The couple are now residing in Coolidge Heights.

Busy Bee Club Has Regular Meeting

Mrs. Chester Seerist, South Main street road, entertained members of the Busy Bee club at her home Friday evening. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Mae Diesem and Mrs. Nellie Antes. Two guests, Mrs. Tom Long and Mrs. Ella Taylor, were in attendance. Buncos was the diversion of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Gust Schill, Mrs. Clyde Charles and Mrs. Lila Ish.

A two-course luncheon was served at small tables decorated with blue and yellow appointments and garden flowers. Mrs. George Bistline, Buckingham street, will entertain the club at her home Aug. 28. Mrs. Ish will serve as associate hostess.

Willy Messerschmitt, designer of the German war plane, is a native of Augsburg, city where Rudolph Hess began his historic flight.

ma. The suit with the lighter shade close to her face was in pique. Under the jacket she wore a blouse of white shirting with frilly collar embroidered in yellow. Warm-weather daytime suits of silk, broadcloth or shantung are as plentiful as the sunshine or the California flowers. The most popular one usually has a printed dress in hectic but electric colors and a monotone packet. Slip off the jacket and you have a simple dress, and wear the jacket with selected skirts and numerous blouses.

One with a real sense of humor is being worn by Peggy Higgins, young Warner Bros. player. The jacket is in a beige shantung printed with small brown cannibals brewing devilry over flat brown pots, and a pleated skirt of rich brown shantung. Lapels are in brown, also the turned edge on low, hip pockets. Peggy is adding fun to humor by wearing a clip of voodoo charms.

With the re-opening of the Hill-Lorraine School of Music and Dancing the next day, April made a gallant effort to put all her worries aside and plunge into the business of making a secure future for her child. It frightened her to think that the responsibility of raising and educating Kenny was now all hers.

Gay and April had planned a summer campaign with special rates which they hoped would bring in new pupils. Two of Gay's former professional dancing friends, Tanya and Tony Haven, had agreed to come in on a commission basis to teach ballroom dancing. They had been famous as a team, and were married and living in Douglaston on the money they had saved when vaudeville was alive. They had joined the school because they enjoyed working rather than in the hope of making a lot of money.

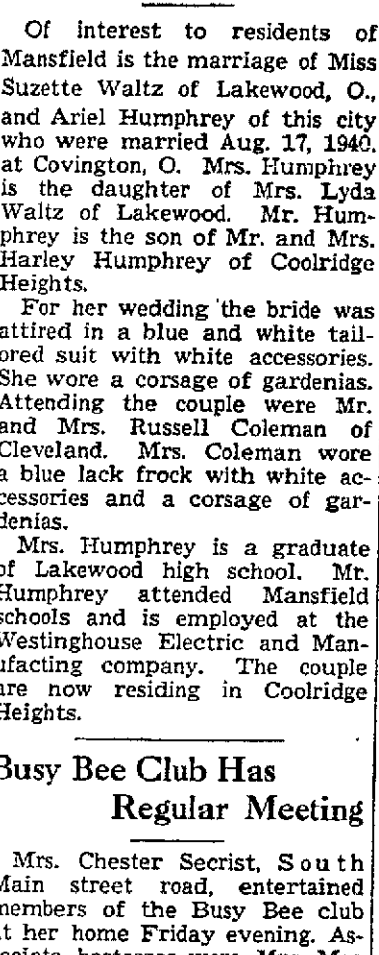

Gay was to teach everything but ballroom dancing with Jack Hart, also a professional dancer, as her assistant. Madame Clara Gil was to assist April with the piano and singing pupils. She was a middle aged woman who had been well known as a teacher on Long Island for years.

April was a little appalled with the responsibility she and Gay were assuming on a shoe string. If it hadn't been for Gay's absolute faith that with the help of Tanya and Tony they couldn't fail to bring in a lot of new business she would never have had the courage to reopen the school with a staff of five assistants.

Gay had believed enough in their venture to pool every cent she had in the world with April's last dollar to buy the new equipment. If all went well in the Fall they would add other musical instructors to their staff of teachers.

And so it was with a determination not to let her friends down, and a realization of the long years of raising Kenny stretching before her that April plunged into her work. The face she showed to the world was young and calm, but her heart was heavy with tragedy. Her inner feelings showed only in the wide gray eyes with their

By Alma Sioux Scarberry (Copyright, 1941)

April worked long hours, but there was always Curt De Witt waiting to spend any free evenings that he could. Sometimes they had gone yachting in the sound, or golfing or dancing at one of Curt's clubs.

It was obvious to her that the charming man she had met on the plane flying back from Reno was falling in love with her, and this worried April when she stopped to think about it. She was sure there could never be anyone in her heart but Hill, and she wondered if it was right to accept Curt's devotion when she knew she could never be anything but a good friend.

April was aware too that people were talking about her being seen so often with a millionaire. But she tried not to worry about gossip, as she knew there was no way of stopping the tongues wagging. Curt De Witt was a perfect gentleman, and if they must talk she preferred that it would be about her friendship with a man of his good reputation and standing in the community.

After Cherry became a model at the Maison Georgette, April seldom saw her except when she came home to sleep. Cherry was spending her days in the salon on Fifth Avenue and her evenings with Brett Hobart and Lola Hitchcock and her crowd.

She had acquired a much too sophisticated wardrobe for her age, and her eyes were tired and faintly rimmed with blue. But miraculously she kept the innocent baby look in her heart shaped face.

April had seen very little of Brett Hobart, but one look at his bored face told her all she needed to know. He seemed to have a limitless amount of spending money, and enjoyed a place at the top of the list of eligible males of the four hundred. But April was sure he was a spoiled weakling. His one ambition in life seemed to be to see how hard he could play.

April closed her heart against the fear that he would ruin Cherry's life, and hoped against hope for the day that her young sister would tire of her merry-go-round and get homesick for Pat Hastings and her home in Virginia. She made it a point never to criticize Cherry, or to cross her in any way, because she feared any attempt to discipline her would only have the opposite effect.

July and August came and went and April could scarcely believe it was September and kindergarten time for Kenny. He had grown like a weed during the summer months, and was strong and brown

Surprise Party Given for Mr. Donald Grace

Donald E. Grace, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grace, 552 Johns Avenue, was surprised on his 21st birthday anniversary, recently when a group of friends met at his home for a party. He will leave Monday for a vacation in Pennsylvania so the event also served as a farewell honor. He received many gifts from the group and at a late hour refreshments were served at a long table. Out-of-town guests in attendance were Mrs. W. B. Wolf of Altoona, Pa., and Junior Wolf of California.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Wolf and son, Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Biddle and son, Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Dunn and children, Sandra Kay and Jerry, Mrs. Henry Franklin, Mrs. Dwight Mallett, Mrs. Mary McQuaid, and daughter, Anna Marie, Miss Hilda Nagle, Natalie Powell, Robert Franklin, John C. Wolf, Ruby and Wilbert Grace.

Braves Edged 2 to 1 By Fremont Sox In Ninth Inning

Saturday, it seems to me, is a very good day to get out the broom and clear the decks of the pile of this and that which has accumulated during the week.

It's merely carrying out the idea of that famous American institution, the Saturday night bath.

I'll try to make this as effervescent as possible to resemble a bubble bath, but with this start I doubt if it gets that frothy.

Chet Methena, the Findlay score keeper, showed me a card from Umpire Mort Watkins (remember him?) which you might find interesting. It said:

Dear Chet: Just a line to let you know that I like the Mountain State league real well and am getting along splendidly. Can you imagine an umpire being treated courteously on a ball field? Well, it happens here! The hitters here don't seem to have anything on the O. S. boys but their defensive play is better. Wishing you and the local club the best of luck, I am, your friend, Mort Watkins.

Courteous treatment? Mort isn't fooling me. That's just some of that southern hospitality.

"Imagine me," says Methena, "getting mash notes from umpires. Gr-r-r!"

It's now reported that Grover Hartley and the Findlay club got $1,000 and an 18-year-old hurling giant, Jack Bastine, for Stan Mazgay when Stanley moved up to Indianapolis in the American association.

And Stanley, who has been getting his one and two blows a day for the Indians, is the guy the Toledo Mud Hens couldn't see even at close range.

Sold by Fremont to the St. Louis Cardinals and ordered to report to Springfield in the Mid-Atlantic league, Bill Ramsey of the Green Sox pulled a fast one when he refused to stay with Springfield because of salary differences.

Now he's been shifted to Columbus, Mansfield Braves say Ramsey is good enough to stick in better company than the Mid-Atlantic.

Grover Hartley is leading the Ohio State league in player sales. Pitcher Jack Griffitt, Second Baseman Harry Stephenson and Outfielder Frank Shank are tagged for future service in the St. Louis Cardinal chain, with Griffitt getting a trial at Columbus.

Ashland Provident Loan girls want another game with the Mansfield Providents.

"We gave 'em a scare the last time, and this time we can beat 'em," declare the Ashlanders who have won four straight games since combining with the Ashland Myers Dry Cleaners.

Sluggo Pittenger, Mansfield gal who pitches and plays short, and rover and other odd jobs for the Ashlanders, held Orville to three hits the other evening for a 4 to 3 victory.

Sluggo? Why she's made four hits herself THIS SEASON.

DON McNEILL DEFENDS CASINO TENNIS CROWN

NEWPORT, R. I. — (UP) — Don McNeill, the nation's No. 1 amateur star, today defends his Casino crown against Frederick Schroeder, jr., Glendale, Cal., co-holder with Jack Kramer of the United States doubles title, in the 25th annual invitation tennis tournament.

McNeill polished off Kramer, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 in the semi-final test.

Schroeder found the going a bit harder in his semi-final test. Matched against Frankie Parker, Schroeder was forced to call upon every shot at his command to register a 6-4, 8-10, 6-4, 6-4 triumph.

MOVES IN TOURNEY
CINCINNATI — (UP) — Cincinnati Bentley Post attempted to make it two straight over the Flint, Mich., nine in the Junior American Legion regional tournament today and advance to the semi-finals next week at Charlotte, N. C. Cincinnati defeated the Flint team yesterday, 6 to 3.

Indians Wilt Fast In Race

Boston, Chicago Near Fading Tribesmen.

CHICAGO — (UP) — The farther the Cleveland Indians sink behind the first-place Yankees, the closer they get to the third-place Red Sox and the fourth-place White Sox.

After dropping a 5 to 2 decision to Chicago last night, Cleveland was 16 games behind the pace, only one and one-half contests ahead of Boston, and two games in front of Chicago.

Jim Bagby, who dropped his last two starts, was given the mound assignment for the Indians today and Johnny Rigney was sent in to hurl against the tribe for the first time this season.

Last night's encounter was Cleveland's eighth loss in the last nine games, not counting an overtime tie with the Browns.

Al Smith was the losing pitcher, though he held the Sox for five innings.

One of the strangest stories of the present baseball season stars Senior Alejandro Carrasquel, the Caballero from Caracas, Venezuela.

He is the righthanded pitcher for the Washington Senators whom some sports writers sought to have change his name to Alex Alexander a year ago, only to encounter diplomatic opposition.

The way he pitched last season it didn't make a great deal of difference what his name was, so the writers let it go at that.

When spring training began he still was in Venezuela, or on the high seas, or somewhere and white-haired Clark Griffith squandered half his scouting budget on cable, wireless and telegraph tolls scouting for his Alex.

Eventually Carrasquel landed at Miami, Fla., and was detained at the immigration authorities until Griffith convinced them he wouldn't become a public dependent. Griff finally got Alex into camp, only to have Manager Bucky Harris scream at his being out of condition.

This prelude is by way of breaking as gently as possible, the news that today Carrasquel is the only undefeated pitcher in the American league. He has scored six victories.

He beat the third-place Boston Red Sox yesterday, 6-3, by scattering eight hits in the seven innings before rain halted play.

The St. Louis Browns downed the Detroit Tigers, 6-1, in another night engagement.

Rain kept the Yankees idle and curtailed the National league program to a game in which the Cincinnati Reds stopped the Chicago Cubs, 2-1, for Johnny Vander Meer's 12th victory.

It's Fun for Fans When Foul Ball Lands

This is the sort of thing baseball fans like and club owners don't. A foul ball is hit into the stands and a whole section scrambles for the ball. Looks like the gent with the cigar and wearing suspenders may get it. At least he appears confident. Scene is at Pittsburgh.

Targetmen Sharpen Eyes

Big Events Booked at Vandalia Trapshoot.

VANDALIA — (UP) — Shotgunners thundered today in a repeat performance of yesterday's opening warm-ups as the nation's top target busters sharpened their touch for the 42nd annual grand American trapshoot.

The first of the big events, the Vandalia open handicap and the world champion open 16-yard contest, are scheduled tomorrow. After that, a field of about 1,000 swings into other top-flight title competitions of the "roaring grand," which runs through Friday.

E. L. Hawkins of Fort Wayne, Ind., broke 100 targets in a row to capture first place in yesterday's opening 16-yard event. A. F. Jones of Thief Falls, Minn., duplicated Hawkins' feat, but lost the laurels on a flip of the coin.

Rudy Eichen of Kansas City, Mo., and P. A. Romig, Uhrschville, O., veteran, tied for honors in the 25-pair doubles affair, each crashing 48 clays.

The 50 target handicap title went to Ed Moler of Brookville, O., who split over 50 straight from the 21-yard mark.

Red Birds Fatten Association Lead

(By Associated Press)

It's been very pleasant, these last 17 games on the home premises, for the Columbus Red Birds. They won 14 of the contests and built up their American Association lead to eight games. Now they go on the road for 24 engagements in 16 days.

In addition to their hefty lead and their fat home winning record, the Birds also ran up a sizeable winning streak which they extended to nine straight last night against St. Paul, 3 to 0. The loss was the Apostles' seventh in a row. Francis (Red) Barrett allowed St. Paul only five hits for his seventh victory.

Kansas City, which is Columbus' nearest pursuer, was cooked in 10 innings at Milwaukee, losing to the Brewers, 8 to 7. Toledo was held to six hits as the Millers score a 7 to 0 shutout. Louisville and Indianapolis were not scheduled.

SAMMY SNEAD LEADS OAK HILL TOURNEY

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (UP) — Sam Snead had a two-stroke edge today as the field went out over the long and narrow Oak Hill country club course on the second round of the $5,000 Rochester Times Union-open golf championship.

Opposite Sam's name on the scoreboards was a neat 67-three strokes under par—which he scored in yesterday's opening round while most of his brother professionals were floundering around in rain which drenched the course most of the day.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Briezt.)
NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—The lowdown on all the beanings the Dodgers have suffered lately is that other clubs have been switching signals on 'em but the Brooks went right on swiping the old ones. . . . That's what happened when the Braves' Dick Erickson nicked three. Catcher Ray Berres continued to give his old signs but it was Erickson who was signalling what he would throw. . . . Dick Bartell says the biggest change he noticed after a year's absence from the National league was that almost every pitcher had picked up an extra pitch. . . . When Lou Nova checked in at Doc Bier's training camp, Abe Simon packed up and left because "he didn't want to train with somebody who was so recently an invalid."

WORDS IS TONGER.
To make it tougher on sports writers, who were just learning to call him "the eminent zoologist," Dick Harlow, the Harvard coach, has switched his hobby from birds' eggs to ferns, so now he's a pteridologist. . . . Eddie Walker, the fight manager, lays 'em in the aisles with a story about how he took Henry Armstrong to London when Henry's hands were so sore he had to take violent ray treatments every day.

Moose Softball Club Wins League Fray

The Moose softball club crushed the Ohio Public Service ten, 16-5 in a Club league tilt at Prospect park last night.

Brown and Cochran sparked the winners' attack at bat as the Moose hopped on Airhart for 18 bingles. The victors scored in all but two innings, the third and fifth.

Leonard and Mowery led the losing club at bat.

Barry Named USC Mentor

Seeks Line Coach To Round Out Staff.

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — Justin M. (Sam) Barry, new head football coach at the University of Southern California, today sought a line coach to round out his staff.

Barry, selected yesterday to succeed the late Howard Jones, did not name a candidate for the job vacated by Jeff Cravath, former line coach who is now head coach at the University of San Francisco, but he indicated another ex-Trojan probably would get the job.

His present aides, Bob McNeish, varsity backfield coach; Julie Bescoes, varsity end coach, and Gaius Shaver, in charge of the freshman squad, are all U. S. C. graduates, as is Cravath.

Barry is head coach of basketball and baseball at U. S. C. William O. Hunter, director of athletics, said Barry would probably coach in all three sports this year.

Barry, 49, came to Southern California in 1929 from the University of Iowa where he assisted Jones in football from 1922 to 1924.

WANTED FOLKS WHO NEED $20 TO $500 TO INVESTIGATE OUR LOAN PLAN

Rates are not the same at all loan companies. We publish our payments and our rate of charge to help you shop for a loan.

Loans made three ways, (1) on signature, (2) on car, (3) on furniture. No endorser. Friends or relatives are not told. 1st treatment in case of sickness or unemployment. Payments include charges of 2% monthly on balances of $200 or less and 1 1/2% monthly on any remainder—the same rate to everyone. Nothing else to pay. To apply—phone, write or visit office. Money ready next day—or sooner if necessary.

STOCKS MOVE HESITANTLY, IRREGULARLY

Crude Rubber Imports For July Show Increase Over June Tonnage.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks moved hesitantly over a slightly irregular route in today's early market proceedings.

Unchanged to up a shade at the opening were U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Motors and Douglas Aircraft. Small minus signs were posted for Standard Oil (N.J.) and Allied Chemical.

Among items scanned by market analysts were:

The department of commerce estimated imports of crude rubber into the United States during July amounted to 97,081 long tons, which was considerably larger than the June aggregate but under the peak total of 101,404 tons brought in during May.

Reports of 137 Class 1 railroads to the interstate commerce commission disclosed June net operating income of $93,261,372 compared with $48,090,783 in the like 1940 month.

HEAR JUDGE

NYA Members Addressed by Cramer at 'Inaugural.'

Speaking as James Long was inaugurated as the mayor of the Charles Mill NYA resident center last night, Judge S. H. Cramer said he hoped the time would "never come when the check and balance systems of government which we operate under is abolished."

"I am glad to see the youth of this nation being trained here in democracy so that when they return to their respective communities they will take part in politics intelligently."

The judge spoke after National Young Administration officials had delegated authority to John Ransome in the operation of the new center and Ransome in turn had delegated it to the new youth mayor.

Rev. C. B. A. Stacy of Millfield gave the invocation and benediction at the ceremony.

TILLIE THE TOILER

H. G. SIMPSON
STATE MUSEUM

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

WHAT DOES EMOTIONALISM MEAN, CAPTAIN EZRA? I'M PRETTY GOOD AT LITTLE WORDS, BUT THE BIG ONES ALWAYS FOOL ME

EMOTIONALISM? THAT'S A WHOPPING BIG WORD - LET ME SEE - IT SORTA MEANS SHOWING YOUR FEELINGS TOO PLAINLY - BUT WHERE IN THE WORLD DID YOU COME ACROSS THAT WORD ???

YESTERDAY I WAS RIDIN' WITH MRS. ROBERT IN HER SWELL CAR AN' A LOT OF POOR KIDS WAS YELLIN' AT ME - CALLIN' ME SMOOTY AN' NERD - HAT AN' LOTS A OTHER THINGS, TOO - BUT I DIDN'T SAY ANYTHIN'

AN' MRS. ROBERT SEZ THAT WAS RIGHT - IF YOU GET MAD AN' TALK BACK TO 'EM IT'S VERY BAD AN' UNREFINED - 'CAUSE RICH FOLKS MUST NEVER DISPLAY EMOTIONALISM !!

HEY, ZERO - PLEASE DON'T DO THAT - OR THE GARDENER WILL GET TERRIBLE MAD AT US

DON'T FEEL BAD, ZERO - I KNOW YOU DIDN'T MEAN TO DO ANYTHIN' WRONG - 'CAUSE YOU WERE ONLY LOOKIN' FOR A BONE

I GUESS YOU GET TIRED OF EATIN' NOTHIN' BUT FANCY DOG FOOD ALL THE TIME - BUT WHEN YOU'RE A RICH DOG YOU GOTTA ACT LIKE RICH DOGS ACT -

I KNOW JUST HOW YOU FEEL, 'CAUSE I NEVER HAD SO MUCH SWELL, FANCY STUFF TO EAT IN ALL MY LIFE - BUT LOTS A TIMES, INSTEAD OF FANCY FOOD, I WISH I COULD HAVE SOME PORK AN' BEANS!

GLORYOSKY, ZERO - I JUST LOVE TO SQUIRT THE HOSE - IT'S SO HOT AN' THE GRASS LOOKS KINDA DRY AN' THIRSTY

GOOD HEAVENS, ANNIE! WHAT'S THE MEANING OF DOING A SERVANTS WORK? ARE YOU TRYING TO DISGRACE US IN FRONT OF EVERYBODY? WAIT UNTIL I TELL MOTHER!!

PLEASE, MISS GLORIA - I DIDN'T KNOW I WAS DOIN' ANYTHIN' WRONG - THE GARDENERS ARE GONE TO LUNCH AN' THE GRASS DOES LOOK TERRIBLE THIRSTY -

ALL RIGHT - ALL RIGHT - DON'T MAKE A SCENE - AFTER ALL, WITH YOUR BACKGROUND ONE CAN HARDLY EXPECT YOU TO ACT LIKE A CIVILIZED HUMAN BEING - BUT DON'T EVER DARE LET ME SEE YOU WORKING AGAIN!

AN' MISS GLORIA SAW ME SPRINKLIN' THE LAWN AN' GOT TERRIBLE MAD - SHE SAID I WAS DISGRACIN' THE FAMILY - AN' IF SHE EVER SAW ME WORKIN' AGAIN, SHE WOULD TELL HER MOTHER 'BOUT ME

I DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS WRONG TO BE WORKIN'

WELL, YOUNGSTER - IT'S KINDA HARD TO EXPLAIN - BUT IF FOLKS SAW YOU SPRINKLIN' THE LAWN THEY MIGHT THINK MRS. ROBERT WAS TREATING YOU LIKE A SERVANT

THERE'S NOTHING WRONG ABOUT WORKING - BUT IF FOLKS SAW A DOCTOR DIGGING A SEWER OR A JUDGE DRIVING A COAL WAGON, THEY'D BE SHOCKED - NOT BECAUSE THEY WERE WORKING, BUT BECAUSE THEY WEREN'T WORKING AT THEIR OWN JOBS

WHEN YOU GET A MITE OLDER YOU'LL LEARN THAT UNLESS YOU STAY IN YOUR OWN LITTLE RUT OR GROOVE, FOLKS WILL THINK YOU'RE A CRACK POT - AN' AN' CAN WORK AND BE RESPECTED, BUT IF A BUTTERFLY EVER WORKED, HIS FAMILY WOULD DISOWN HIM!

HI, ANNIE - I'VE BEEN HUNTING ALL OVER THE PLACE FOR YOU - I HAVE A MESSAGE FROM CAPTAIN JIM SALTEE FOR YOU

GLORYOSKY, MR. BOB - YOU MEAN THE HUMMIN' BIRD IS BACK IN THE HARBOR AGAIN?

NOT SO FAST, ANNIE - THE HUMMING BIRD IS THOUSANDS OF MILES AWAY FROM HERE

G'WAN - YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME 'BOUT A MESSAGE FROM CAPTAIN JIM

NO, I'M NOT FOOLING YOU - EVERY SHIP IS A FLOATING BROADCASTING STATION -

MOTHER JUST RECEIVED A RADIOGRAM FROM THE HUMMING BIRD - CAPTAIN AND MRS. JIM SEND YOU THEIR LOVE - HEY, DON'T START TO CRY ABOUT IT -

I CAN'T (SNIFF) HELP IT - I THOUGHT THEY'D FORGOT ALL ABOUT ME

SURELY, ROBERT, YOU MUST BE JOKING - THE CHILD HAS EVERYTHING MONEY CAN BUY - WHAT IN THE WORLD CAN SHE HAVE TO COMPLAIN ABOUT?

DON'T GET ME WRONG, MOTHER, THE KID ISN'T COMPLAINING - SHE'S NOT THE WHINING SORT - EVERY TIME SHE KNOWS ANYONE IS WATCHING HER - SHE PUTS ON A SMILE

THE TROUBLE IS SHE HAS TO PUT THE SMILE ON - WHEN SHE'S ALONE SHE LOOKS AS LONESOME AND FORLORN AS A BUTTERFLY IN A BLIZZARD

NONSENSE - YOU ARE JUST IMAGINING THINGS!

HONEST, ZERO - ME AN' YOU MUST BE GETTIN' GOOFY - YOU USED TO BE HAPPY ALL DAY LONG - JUMPIN' 'ROUND AN' WAGGIN' YOUR TAIL - NOW YOU ACT LIKE YOU WAS CRYIN' INSIDE OF YOU - AN' I ACT THE SAME WAY YOU DO
